

KINGS FOLLOW HER BIER; LAST SAD RITES TO QUEEN

Remains of Victoria Borne Through London Amid Scenes of Dazzling Splendor.

MOST WONDERFUL PAGEANT IN HISTORY

Last Tribute of England to Its Departed Sovereign is Imposing Beyond Compare—Immense Crowds Watch Funeral Procession.

London, Feb. 2.—The second and last portion of the journey of Victoria to the earth from which she came and over which she ruled was completed today.

The early morning mists rolled higher at noon, the wind sang its softest requiem, the waters of the Solent ere as still and quiet as the mourning thousands who gathered to do homage to the Queen, Woman and Friend.

Solemn Hush on the Crowds.

When the cavalcade entered London a solemn hush prevailed among the thousands upon thousands that were packed on the line of march. Emperors and princes, walked humbly between the black clad line of sorrowing islanders. All the colors of a dozen royal courts were massed in the clothing of the rulers of half a dozen nations and their trains. The sunlight gleamed from the hilts of jeweled swords and gemmed decorations.

As the eye turned from the glittering mass of gorgeous uniforms it rested on a group of women clad in simplest black. This little band of mourners looked for all the world like nuns, contained a queen, a future queen and a score of princesses. Many an eye clouded and many a throat choked as the sorrowing womanhood of grieving royalty passed along.

Skirl of Black Watch Dirge.

Not a sound save that of half audible weeping came from the spectators. From the head of the procession came the music that the queen loved so well—the wail of the bagpipes. Her own highlanders were skirling the "Black Watch" dirge. A dozen massed bands played Chopin's funeral march, but above all the clamor of horns and trumpets rose the shriek of the pipes wailing for one who would never return.

Streets Draped in Purple.

From London station to Paddington station the streets of London are draped in purple, black and white. In St. James street one meets with a perfect blaze of purple of all shades. Piccadilly is gorgeous. Some of the club are entirely veiled with purple cloth, relieved by white bows and rosettes.

Fifty Kings and Princes.

The cavalcade which followed the coffin with King Edward in the center flanked by Emperor William and the Duke of Connaught exceeded in brilliancy anything ever seen in England. There were nearly fifty kings and princes each wearing the uniform of his own country.

Following this brilliant cavalcade came the princesses in carriages, the order of precedence here observed emphasizes the great changes the death of Victoria has made among her daughters. Princess Christian, Princess Beatrice and Princess Louise Louise now yield places to the daughters of the king.

The first carriage contained Queen Alexandra, the duchess of Fife, now Princess Royal, Princess Victoria and Princess Charles of Denmark. The second had the daughters of Queen Victoria and the King of Belgium. Landed in Drenching Rain.

The body was landed from the royal yacht Alberta at Portsmouth at eight thirty this morning in a drenching rain. The special train with its precious burden started for London at eight fifty three while the monster fleet of warships thundered forth minute guns.

Precisely at eleven o'clock the funeral train drew slowly into the city and King Edward, Queen Alexandra and Emperor William were the first to alight, greeting King Leopold of Belgium, King George of Greece and other royal persons in the order of their rank.

Twelve men from the Coldstream guards removed the coffin from the car and placed it on a waiting gun carriage.

The draperies were arranged as at Cowes yesterday. This part of the procession waited until the troops fell into line and started away.

Outside of the station is a mass of irregular high buildings amid which in every possible and impossible place stands had been erected giving the effect that the buildings seemed to burst with people.

In Hyde Park hundreds of acres of people stood. Soldiers, thirty-five thousand of them, stood shoulder to shoulder and held the whole line of march.

First in the procession came a single officer from the headquarters staff heading two bands playing Chopin's march, then detachments of volunteers, squadron of mounted yeomanry, detachments of Colonials, fifty members of the Honorable artillery, a hundred and fifty men of the department corps, twenty officers of the Indian army in gorgeous uniforms, ten hundred infantry in scarlet tunics, four hundred Foot Guards, one hundred royal engineers, four hundred splendid mounted cavalymen, two hundred marines, three hundred blue jackets. Then came what all awaited.

Edward and Kaiser Lead.

First in this were six foreign attaches, thirty gorgeously uniformed members of the headquarters staff with Field Marshal Roberts in the rear, and then the gun carriage with officers as the out riders and behind it the most remarkable guard of honor ever seen in modern times.

It consisted of King Edward, Duke of Connaught and the Kaiser Wilhelm riding abreast, all dressed in the uniforms of a British Field Marshal. Behind them were the titled attendants, King Carlos of Portugal, King George of Greece and King Leopold of Belgium, the latter riding in a carriage owing to feebleness.

Royal Company of Forty.

The whole royal company of forty riding consisted of three kings, one emperor, crown princes of Roumania, Sweden, Germany, Denmark, Siam, Greece; Duke Aosta, heir of the Italian throne; Arch Duke Francis Ferdinand of Austria, Grand Duke Michael of Russia and German and English princes.

Following this cortage were six carriages with the Queen Alexandra and titled ladies. The crowd fairly gasped at the splendor of the show. A company of German cavalry completed the procession, which reached Paddington at one o'clock and half an hour later the body was placed aboard the train for Windsor.

Nothing Like It Ever Seen.

Hyde Park was the most interesting spot during the procession for there the greatest crowds gathered. Nothing like it was ever witnessed. Several were injured by being trampled on during the rush for the gates after the procession passed. Extraordinary ambulance preparations had been made and the soldiers eight deep forced humanity back. Every tree was filled with people and they ranged in station from costermongers to millionaires. Only athletes and wealthy people however secured an unimpeded view of the grand pageant.

Arrived at Windsor.

Windsor, Feb. 2.—At two fifteen Victoria's funeral train arrived here. The coffin was immediately escorted to royal chapel. Mendelssohn's funeral march was rendered as the body was borne in. Then followed the ordinary burial services of the church. The edifice was draped in purple hangings. The route from the station to the chapel was lined with infantrymen who kept back forty thousand people all struggling for points of vantage.

Services at Washington.

Washington, Feb. 2.—At St. John's Episcopal church this morning official Washington and representatives of foreign powers paid tribute to the memory of Victoria. McKinley and members of his cabinet were present, and judges of the supreme court, congressmen, and Gen. Miles and Admiral Dewey. The church was beautifully decorated. The services consisted simply of the ritual and choir music. Bishop Satterlee delivered the address.

CASTELLANE AS JOURNALIST.

Has Article in Gaulois Advocating Alliance with United States.

Paris, Feb. 2.—Count Bona de Castellane made his journalistic debut this morning in the columns of the Gaulois, in an article entitled "What Is Becoming of Imperialism?" The count dwells at length on the simultaneous outburst of imperialism in Great Britain and the United States, and on the favor with which President McKinley's re-election has been received by the British and German press.

Castellane connects this attitude of the press with the present reception accorded the Kaiser in London, and concludes that an alliance of German and Anglo-Saxon imperialism is imminent.

"In order to combat this juncture of forces the count advocates strenuous opposition to such an entente; otherwise, he says, France will be excluded from the principal markets of the world. The article concludes:

"On the morning of President McKinley's re-election imperialistic doctrines came down a peg. Difficulties in the Philippines cooled the American desire for conquest. In consequence of this President McKinley appears to favor a waiting policy in China, thus tending to join with France and Russia and desert Great Britain and Germany. At this point France can split up the imperialistic triple alliance and bring about a dual alliance of the two great democracies, the United States and France."

JANESVILLE GETS $25,000 MORE INCREASE FOR NEW POSTOFFICE

House Committee Reports to That Effect—Eau Claire is Also Favored—$300,000 for a New Building at Superior.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 2.—The house public building committee yesterday ordered a favorable report on the omnibus bill offered early in the week, which includes increases for public buildings already authorized by congress.

The appropriation for the Eau Claire building is increased to $175,000. The original appropriation was $115,000, and the treasury officials endorsed the proposition of Representative Esch that the figure should be fixed at $200,000.

The Janesville building was also provided for, the appropriation being increased from $50,000 to $75,000.

Superior Federal Building. From the committee on public buildings of the senate Senator Quarles reported favorably the bill introduced by Senator Spooner to provide for the erection of a new federal

MARTIN LOOMING UP AS A DARK HORSE

Bitter Fight on in the Nebraska Legislature for the Election of a United States Senator.

Lincoln, Neb., Feb. 2.—State Senator Martin of Falls City is looming up a dark horse in the fight for United States senator in the legislature. In the ballot yesterday Martin gained two, and he is expected to make other additions today. Rosewater is generally credited with an intention to build up Martin for the short term in opposition to Thompson, who still refuses to enter into a combination with the Omaha editor. When he came to the legislature Martin was recognized as a Thompson supporter, but he is now a full-fledged senatorial candidate in his own interest.

HAS NO DESIRE TO SQUEEZE ANY ONE

A Milwaukee Commission Man Has Put Up a Corner on the Pea Market.

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 2.—The pea market has been cornered by Herman Reel of the Milwaukee Produce company. He has control of 30,000 bushels, which happens to be about all there is in the United States at the present time. Mr. Reel predicts that Scotch peas will sell as high as $1.50 a bushel before the new crop appears. He says that it would be an easy matter to raise the price to $1.75, but that he has no desire to squeeze any one.

LOBBYISTS KEPT BUSY AT MADISON

Railroads Keeping a Close Watch on the Bills Affecting Them.

MAPS IN THEIR POCKET

McCabe Introduces a Bill Protecting Employees, Asking Damages in Accidents.

FIVE BILLS BY MR. WHITEHEAD

Madison, Wis., Feb. 2.—The joint legislative apportionment committee will not get into the real work of redistricting the state until week after next, as the census figures are not expected from Washington until the latter end of the coming week. At the last apportionment the legislature had a bill already prepared by A. J. Turner of Portage and while it was badly carved up before it became a law, it formed a basis on which the present committee is without.

Representative Fitzgerald of Massachusetts is making another effort to revive the contention that was sprung in the house of representatives over the presentation of congress of the statute of Pere Marquette by the state of Wisconsin. It will be recalled that while a formal acceptance of the statute was made by the resolution of the senate no action was ever taken upon the matter in the house. Mr. Fitzgerald has offered a resolution in the house conveying thanks of that body to the state for the statute and formally accepting the work of art.

Several of the members have maps in their pockets, most of which have the personal ambitions of their owners behind them. There are four democrats on the committee, Senator Weed and Assemblymen Benson, Elmer and Schellenberg.

Railroad Lobbyists Busy.

The railroad lobbyists have other things besides the taxation and the two cent fare bills to keep them busy. One is the bill introduced by Assemblyman McCabe of Milwaukee which provides that an employee who is accidentally injured shall not be barred from recovering damages because the accident was caused by contributory negligence on his part. Under the present law contributory negligence is practically a bar to recovery. McCabe's bill would give the injured party half of the damages he would have been entitled to if he had not contributed to the negligence. The bill of course affects manufacturers and lumbermen and other large employers of labor as well as the railroad companies and there is likely to be a strong fight against it.

Bills by Mr. Whitehead.

The following bills were introduced by Mr. Whitehead yesterday: No. 141 S.—Relating to the sale of lands by executors and guardians. No. 142 S.—Relating to the examination of persons reported to be insane. No. 143 S.—Relating to the Municipal court of Rock county. No. 144 S.—Relating to the Municipal court of Rock county. No. 145 S.—Relating to the sale of lands of minors or others under guardianship.

To Reduce Passenger Rates.

The effort to reduce railroad fares will have a much better chance of success in this than in past legislatures. Four bills reducing passenger rates are now before the assembly railroad committee. One makes a straight two cent fare on all roads in the state two call for a two cent fare on roads which earn over $3,500 a mile and a fourth compels railroad companies to sell 1,000 mile books for $20. It is believed that some bill making a reduction will be favorably reported by the committee, but just what form it will take Chairman Thomas is not ready to say.

MAY PALMER BANKS DEAD.

Widow of General Expires at Her Home in Waltham, Mass.

Waltham, Mass., Feb. 2.—Mary Palmer Banks, widow of Nathaniel P. Banks, who died at the old homestead, with her daughters, Mrs. Sterling, wife of the Rev. Paul Sterling of Melrose, and Miss Maud Banks, the actress, at her bedside, was born in Charlestown eighty-one years ago. As a mill girl she became acquainted with Mr. Banks when 17 years of age, and married him later in Providence. They had four children, three surviving—Mrs. Sterling, Miss Maud Banks and a son, Joseph Banks, who is a civil engineer in New York. Mrs. Banks always occupied a prominent social position owing to the prominence of her husband, who served as speaker of the national house of representatives and as governor of Massachusetts. While he was stationed at New Orleans during the civil war Mrs. Banks remained in camp with the general. At the time the prince of Wales was in Boston in 1890 her husband was then governor of Massachusetts, and, on account of being the first lady, she had the opening dance with the prince.

WANTS TO HANG IN PLACE OF ANOTHER

Mrs. Storey, an Aged Spiritualist, Offers to Mount Gallows in Place of a Wife Murderer.

Camden, N. J., Feb. 2.—Mrs. T. H. Storey, an aged spiritualist of Camden, yesterday offered to mount the gallows and to be hanged in the place of Robert T. Hill, who is under sentence of death next Tuesday for wife murder. Repeatedly she has declared that the spirits have told her that Hill will never hang. She went to Trenton and tried to see Governor Voorhees. She wanted him to allow her to hang next Tuesday instead of Hill. The governor was not at the state house, and Mrs. Storey said she would not rest until she had found him, and immediately started for Elizabeth, where Gov. Voorhees lives.

Thompson of the world's fair finance committee that he would sign the $5,000,000 bonding bill on condition that he and his assistants would agree to give bond in the sum of $1,000,000 insuring that the surplus from the bond sale be given the city. Mr. Thompson and his associates reached the city hall at 10:30, agreed to the conditions and signed the stipulations named.

BOERS MOVING UPON CAPE COLONY

Combined Advance by Orange River Commanders—British Are Preparing for Them.

Cape Town, Feb. 2.—The government reports a combined movement by several Orange river commanders from the north and northeast in a southerly direction. It is anticipated that another attempt may be made to enter the Cape Colony.

A portion of the British troops is moving to the rear of the Boers. Others are being sent from the south to meet the burghers.

In the central district the Boers have had two skirmishes with Colonel Goring's column. The burghers lost several killed and captured. The invaders were driven into the Kona mountains, where they are now.

New York, February 2.—The Southern Pacific has been absorbed by the Union Pacific. Notice of the consummation of the deal was made public today and it startled the railroad and financial world. Union Pacific interests obtain more than two-fifths of the entire capital stock of the $200,000,000.

The gigantic deal is but a preliminary to the ocean-to-ocean Vanderbilt line that is ultimately to link San Francisco and New York with a band of steel rails owned or controlled by one company.

The present owners of the Union Pacific represent the Vanderbilt, Standard Oil and kindred interests.

Realizes a Dream.

The deal marks the beginning of the realization of a dream of transcontinental transportation that had its humble beginning when the first Vanderbilt ran a ferry line from Staten Island to New York City.

When that dream is fully realized the New York Central, the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern, the Chicago & Northwestern and the greater Union Pacific created by today's purchase will be the component parts.

Speyers Let Go Their Interests.

The announcement was made in a manner sufficiently explicit to leave no possibility of question or doubt that the Harriman syndicate, acting in the interests of the Union Pacific railroad company, had acquired by purchase the control of the Southern Pacific railway.

Both the Huntington and the Speyer interests in the Southern Pacific have passed to the new interests, which are closely identified with the Rockefellers, Vanderbilts, and Kuhn, Loeb & Co.

A Vast Transaction.

The vast transaction, the consummation of which changes the railroad map of the United States and calls into existence the largest railway system in the world, was carried out by private negotiation.

Upward of $80,000,000 of par value Southern Pacific stock has been acquired and the original dreams of the promoters of the first Pacific enterprises—a through route under one ownership from the Missouri river to the Golden Gate—has at last been accomplished.

A Total of 15,771 Miles.

All that is definitely known is that the Speyer and Huntington interests in the Southern Pacific have been acquired by the Harriman party in the Union Pacific and that the 8,157 miles of road owned, operated or leased by the Union Pacific road added to the 7,614 miles similarly controlled by the Southern Pacific company, making a total of 15,771 miles will in the future be operated in the closest possible harmony.

the exception of the country between Steynsburg and Venterstad, where several small bodies of Boers are reported. One of these bodies recently crossed from the Orange river colony. An extraordinary Gazette was issued containing a proclamation by Governor Milner, which states there is reason to believe that considerable numbers of the Boers are preparing to invade the Cape Colony and calls the attention of the inhabitants of those districts likely to be affected by the inroad to their allegiance and the obligations due his majesty and the throne. They are warned that they must in no way recognize the authority of the invaders or directly or indirectly assist the enemy.

CENTRALIZED SCHOOLS EXPLOITED; TOWN OF NEWARK AS AN EXAMPLE

District Public School an Anachronism in These Days—An Economic Measure and One Endorsed Wherever Tested.

"Formerly the state sought to carry the school house to the child; now it is the duty of the state to carry the child to the school house."

This statement of Thomas B. Stockwell, commissioner of education for Rhode Island, tells in one sentence the aim of progressive educators in regard to the centralized school.

The district school must go. It has served its day and generation, more or less nobly, but it has outlived its usefulness, and has become an anachronism in these days of more exact methods and keener attention to detail. Its successor is the centralized school which has been successfully tried in thirteen states. In no known case has there been any tendency to a return to the district school system after the more progressive method has been tested.

The centralized school idea aims to give to the country child educational advantages equal to those of the child reared in city or village, and to accomplish this the child must be transported to where such advantages may be had.

This matter of transportation is one of the most important in the proposed change. By this means absence and tardiness are reduced to a minimum. The wagons in use are provided with protection against inclement weather, in the way of curtains, lap robes, soap stones, etc., and a higher average of health can be maintained among the pupils. Little children are thus freed from bullying from the larger pupils, for the driver is a sort of ex officio policeman, part of whose duty it is to protect his charges. The expense of the conveyances transporting the children has found to average about one dollar per day each.

It has been noticed especially of late years that the attendance at the district school has been very small, in some cases falling to four or five pupils, but the expense of maintaining it was as great as though thirty children were being educated. The loss in the aggregate has been enormous and this is where the new idea is a matter of economy.

In place of several district schools poorly lighted, poorly ventilated and poorly taught, there are to be one or more central schools built on a modern, progressive principles of school construction. They will contain several departments and be graded as in the city and village schools.

In cutting down the number of teachers and limiting each to one or two grades, better salaries can be offered and more competent teachers secured. The curriculum will ultimately include singing, drawing, manual training, and agriculture, all of which are utterly out of reach under the present system.

A very marked advantage will be the holding of the better classes of pupils in the country. As the case now stands the brighter children become disgusted with the meagre equipment of the district school, and manage by some means to escape into better environments. Thus the poorer and duller children are deprived of just so much inspiration, and plod along with but little encouragement, either by precept or example.

In the redistricting for the central schools township lines will be ignored. If a village with a good school system is located just outside the township say on the west, the children of that part of the town will be sent to the village, and those living in the east half will feed the school in the center of the town, or wherever it will be most convenient for the greatest number.

Looking a little farther forward there arises a vision of the high schools township lines will be ignored, school, and many of the advanced educators of the day urge recognition of this need in building the new school houses.

The expense at the time would be but little more and it would be a provision for an emergency certain to arise.

Under the present system only 10 per cent of the country children are able to reach the high school. The other 90 per cent. are just as much entitled to this advantage as the more fortunate minority. While the attendance in the grades will probably always exceed that in the high school, the painful disparity now existing will be obliterated.

It has reached the point where justice demands an equalization of the opportunities of city and country bred child. In the matter of physical health alone the latter leads. In all other respects he is far behind his urban competitor.

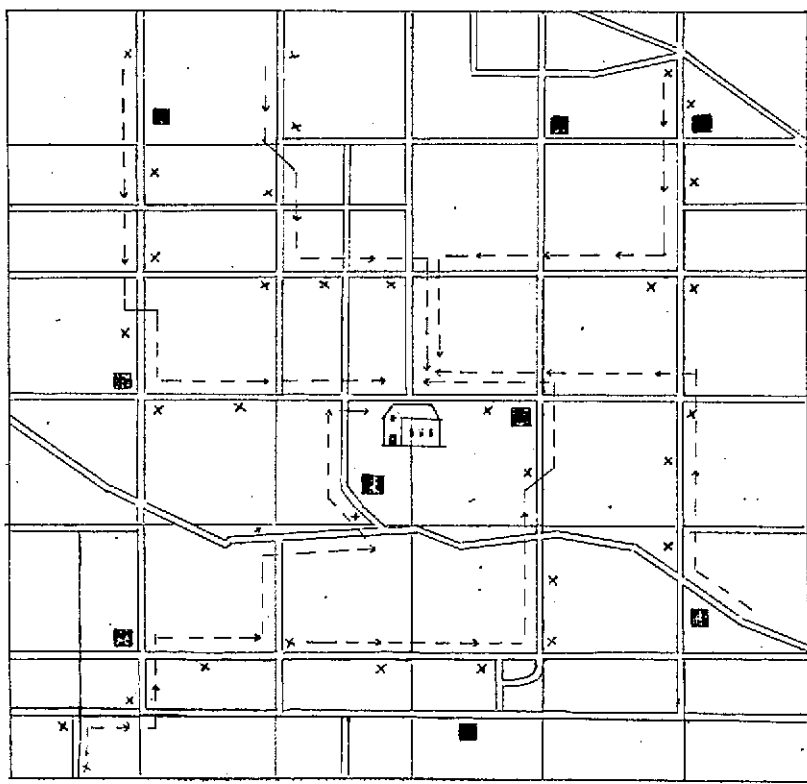

Dr. Gunsaulus in his lecture on "The Next Step in Education" points out that over 75 per cent of the best greatest satisfaction with the plan was expressed.

The past year this question of the consolidated school was submitted by popular vote in one of the western townships of the county and defeated by only seven votes, probably because the matter had not been so prominently brought before the notice of the public as to be generally understood. Were the question again submitted in the same town the result would be undoubtedly altogether different.

This week Supt. Ross and a normal school conductor has exploited the idea in a number of the towns and villages in the western part of the county. Next week Supt. David Thorne of the eastern half will work in collaboration with Prof. Hutton of Whitewater in advancing the same idea in his district.

The movement is spreading over the whole country more rapidly than any so radical change in the history of our public school system. The onward march cannot be stayed, nor even can it be much delayed by the few obstructionists who may oppose it. There is no doubt in the world but that Rock county will promptly swing into line in the adoption of the better method and the little one-room district school will fade away literally from the landscape or be retained like the log cabin of the early days to more strongly emphasize the superiority of the present over the past.

Town of Newark, Rock County.

The black square, ■, stands for a abandoned district school; the cross, x, for homes where children of school age reside; the building in the center is the centralized school and the dashed lines point the route traveled by the school wagons.

commercial and professional talent of the city of Chicago is drawn from the country. This means that the pure air, abundant and wholesome food and muscular strength developed in the country have enabled the young men from the rural districts to out distance their competitors, even with the lack of the more complete educational facilities the city youth was able to command.

Winter is the time when the country school is at its best. What sort of prize does the country child pay for his education who has to tramp through half or three-quarters of a mile of mud or unbroken snow to the school house and there to find sorry comfort in the box stove which fries one side while the other is freezing or dripping. The numerous obstacles are so great as to be prohibitive to any but the most sturdy of the larger children and entirely so to the little ones.

Nothing but regular and prompt attendance keeps alive a child's interest in the school. The continual interruptions referred to place the frequent absentee at a disadvantage with those who can attend regularly. He becomes discouraged, learns to dislike school and the best intentions of the state to furnish education to every child are rendered abortive. Further he becomes habituated to a lack of regularity and punctuality which is apt to color his whole future life, the lesson coming to him at a time when his mind is as wax to receive but marble to retain.

County Superintendent Ross of the first district in his report to the county board very strongly advocated the consolidation of schools on the grounds that infinitely more and better results could thus be obtained, and after the initial expense of building and equipping the new school the expense would be a little any increased.

Even if it were considerably augmented that would be no valid argument against it for parsimony in providing education for the future men and women of the country in misdirected economy.

During the last week he has visited schools in the northern part of the state where this idea has taken root more readily than in the southern counties—probably for the reason that the districting there was being done for the first time, not done over as nearer home. In Chippewa county he found the centralized school and the free transportation in force to a certain extent. In every case the

We are still in the rear of progressive New Zealand where education is not only free but, when necessary, children are conveyed to and from school gratuitously on the government railways.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

Alan Dale of the New York Journal said of "Sherlock Holmes": "Yes it was Sherlock Holmes, the very creme de la creme of Sherlock Holmes, a strong undiluted dose scarcely seasoned with any of the usual theatrical accompaniments. Through all of his hair breath escapes you kept your eyes on him. He was written up for all he was worth. No such type ever fitted across our vision before. He keeps you in a constant state of mental turmoil. You sit and wonder what is going to happen next. There is no moment when you feel that you can allow your attention to wander, and you don't." The play will be at the Myers Grand tonight.

It is seldom that a repertoire company has such a list of plays as the Clark company. Their repertoire embraces the following list: "The Fatal Scar," "A Man of the World," "Buried Alive," "The Opera Singer," "The Engineer," "City of New York," "Oliver Twist," "Gates of Justice," "A Busy Time," "Wheels of Fortune," etc. No better play than the Fatal Scar could be selected for the opening play. It serves an excellent vehicle to introduce fine musical numbers and specialties. It contains strong dramatic climaxes and also some irresistibly funny situations. The company carry the highest rated comedian in repertoire—Will Fitzgerald, who plays a rollicking Irishman on Monday night. As is the custom with repertoire companies ladies will be admitted free on Monday night.

Nothing Tastes Good

And eating is simply perfunctory—done because it must be.

This is the common complaint of the dyspeptic.

If eating sparingly would cure dyspepsia, few would suffer from it long.

The only way to cure dyspepsia, which is difficult digestion, is to give vigor and tone to the stomach and the whole digestive system.

Hood's Sarsaparilla cured the niece of Frank Fay, 106 N. St., South Boston, Mass., who writes that she had been a great sufferer from dyspepsia for six years; had been without appetite and had been troubled with sour stomach and headache. She had tried many other medicines in vain. Two bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla made her well.

ILLINOIS.

Friday, February 1.

Representative Curtis introduced two hard-roads bills. One of the bills creates the office of state engineer of roads who is directed to co-operate with and advise all road officers in the state relative to the construction and maintenance of hard roads. The bill directs the method and procedure of providing hard roads and for the payment of the expense thereof. The other bill provides that fifteen legal voters in any township may petition for the construction of hard roads, and it makes it the duty of the township officers to arrange for holding an election to vote on the proposition. It also provides that in each township where there are more than three miles of hard roads the supervisor shall appoint a custodian of hard roads, whose duty it shall be to keep them in repair. It also provides for sale of township bonds to pay for the construction of hard roads.

Gov. Yates has appointed Edward S. Brown of Evanston a member of the military staff with the rank of colonel. The appointment dates from Jan. 28. Col. Brown was formerly treasurer of the Republican national committee.

INDIANA.

Friday, February 1.

The Barlow anti-lynching bill was passed by the Indiana senate. Vigorous opposition was made by some of the democratic members. The bill provides that any sheriff who allows a prisoner to be lynched while in his custody shall immediately vacate his office until he has explained to the satisfaction of the governor that he was not to blame for allowing the lynching. The final vote was 29 to 13.

In the house this afternoon Mr. Louitt (dem.) introduced another resolution looking to action in a requisition for Taylor and Finley, the Kentucky refugees. The resolution declares that the Kentucky court of appeals has a republican majority, and that Taylor and Finley have the right of appeal to this court if their trials by the lower court are unfair. Speaker Artman said he would decide Monday as to whether the resolution is in order.

Representative Hopping, of Delaware county, has prepared a bill to allow strawboard works to dump refuse in the streams after getting permits from the state board of health. The Supreme court has declared that this is unlawful, and the strawboard works have been at a loss to know how to dispose of refuse.

Cigarettes Lose a Case.

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 2.—With only a six months' cruise on the matrimonial seas, Herbert Stanlan and his pretty young wife Marie have tired of their marital life. The young husband appeared in the desertion court charged with desertion and nonsupport. When Judge Finetto learned, however, that Mrs. Stanlan smoked cigarettes he refused to make an order against Stanlan and dismissed the wife's complaint. The wife's story was very brief. She was married six months ago, but never lived with her husband, as he failed to provide her either with a home or with funds.

Quarrel Over a Corpse.

Racine, Wis., Feb. 2.—The body of Mrs. Frank Brinkner of this city lies in a Chicago undertaker's shop, and, although a request has been made to have the body shipped to Racine, the undertaker refuses to do so until his bill has been paid. This the county agent refuses to do before the arrival of the body here. Two weeks ago Mrs. Brinkner was taken to Augustana hospital at Chicago to have an operation performed for cancer. The woman died Wednesday. The county agent has notified the undertaker that the body can be disposed of as he sees fit.

TO CURE THE GRIP.

Advice of a Famous Physician.

First and foremost, rest. Take care of yourself. Your already weakened nerves want rest, and must have it. If the attack is severe go to bed and remain there. More fatalities result from neglect of this precaution than from any other cause. Eat sparingly. Your digestive organs are in no condition to take care of the large quantities of food. Drink plenty of pure cold water. It alays the fever, stimulates the kidneys to action and opens up the pores of the skin. Keep the bowels open with Dr. Miles' Nerve and Liver Pills. Take three doses of Dr. Miles' Nerve per day, and if you cannot sleep take an extra dose at bed time. To overcome the fever and to overcome the peculiar aches and pains of the grip, use Dr. Miles' Pain Pills. They act quickly and effectually, and no bad effects result from their use. These remedies have been thoroughly tested more than a million times, and their efficiency is thoroughly established. They never fail to give relief.

Dr. Miles' Remedies can be found at any drug store, and they are sold on a positive guarantee that the first bottle or package benefits or money refunded.

RIPE OLD AGE.

In a modest little home not a thousand miles away, lives an old gentleman and his wife, who, for more than sixty years have walked the pathway of life together.

The three score years and ten have passed, and both of them are living on borrowed time, yet happier in each other's love and comradeship, than when they stood at the altar so long ago. For eighteen months the wife has been confined to the house as the result of an injury from a fall. She is not a stranger to suffering and disappointment, and while she sits in the old rocking chair by the fire-side, chatting to the husband, and calling up memories of the past, listen to the story, and be assured that ripe old age and heroism are sometimes closely connected.

"Do you remember, father, that night back in the sixties when our only boy came home from college and said he was going to war?"

"Yes, I'll never forget that night, mother."

"And do you remember what a struggle we had to give him up, and how proud we were of him when he marched out with his company to give his life if need be for his country?"

"Yes, mother, it seems only yesterday."

"And do you remember how we watched the papers after every battle, and how we were overcome with grief when we saw his name among the wounded, and how you hurried away south to bring him home?"

"Yes, I shall always remember how I found him in the hospital, and how I found him in the hospital, and how I brought him home when he was able to travel, and how you nursed him back to health."

The old lady mused for a little time and then she said:

"That was a long time ago, father, almost forty years. What changes have come to us since."

"Yes, great changes, it seems like a dream."

"Do you remember, mother, about the wedding and how happy we were when John brought Mary into our home as his wife, and how we loved her from the first as a daughter?"

"Yes, father, those were happy days and how good God was to let us enjoy them, without a glimpse of the sorrow and separation that the years ahead contained."

And so for an hour they lived over again the life of mystery and sorrow, again the life so full of mystery, not attempting to solve it, but with faith and hope anchored "within the vale," these old people, standing on the edge of time, look into each other's faces and say with reverence, "God knows best. He doeth all things well."

The history of these two grand lives is a romance in real life, so true that every line has left an imprint on the tablet of memory that will not be effaced this side of the pearly gates, that are many years will swing wide to let them in."

At the close of the war they sold their farm in a distant state, and in company with John and his wife, came to Wisconsin and located on a farm near this city.

John had his profession and shortly opened an office and established his new home in town. Two baby boys came to the home in due time, and the little family circle was complete in happiness.

The prattle of childhood brought new joy to the hearts of the old people, who watched the development of boyhood, life with ever increasing pride and solicitude.

A dozen happy years went by, when the first death entered the family circle, calling out of it suddenly and without a moment's warning the youngest boy, prostrating the mother with grief, from which she never recovered. A few years later the other son graduated, was married, and took up his life work in a distant city, with bright prospects for success, but inherited disease soon developed, and he came home to find his mother an invalid, patiently waiting for the final summons.

In a few short months both mother and son were sleeping in the church yard, while the husband and father, sitting in the ashes of a desolate home, tried to fathom the mysteries of life. Before the task was completed he was carried into the house one day a physical wreck from accident, and in a few brief weeks his spirit went out to find the loved ones already summoned.

But what of the old people during these days of dark experience, when the wreckage of life was strewn so thickly about them, that every prop was tottering? Did they give up in despair and surrender to a life of bitterness and complaint, because of the waves of sorrow that engulfed them? Visit the little home again and join the little circle at twilight, when the old gentlemen with the well worn family bible is reading to the wife some of the precious promises, that through all the years of chance and change have been their stay and comfort. He closes the book and the wife says: "Let's repeat that last verse together, father," and with reverent voice and trusting faith you listen to the word that comes to you with new significance, "Though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death; I will fear no evil, for Thou art with me. Thy rod and thy staff they comfort me."

You turn away with a new glimpse of life, because you have been standing on consecrated ground, so close to the vale that divides the seen from the unseen that you could faintly catch the music, and with a little flight of imagination, detect the little group just over the way, waiting to welcome the weary pilgrims to the land where separation is unknown.

And so these two old people, sitting in the shadow of life yet surrounded with a halo that dispels all gloom, cheerful, cheery, bright and trusting, are patiently waiting. They look back through the sixty years of to unravel the mysteries, but satisfied to unravel the mysteries, but satisfied to trust and wait.

That is ripe old age whose glory shines the brighter because refined by suffering and service.

MEDICINE AND OSTEOPATHY.

The Osteopathic bill, now before the senate, is meeting with the opposition that its friends anticipated, and from the only quarter that would think of opposing it—namely, the medical men of the state.

The opposition developed last Thursday when a counter bill was introduced in the assembly by request, and evidently at the instigation of the State Board of Medical Examiners as the president of that organization was present to champion the bill.

The bill is called the "Medical License Bill," and is aimed directly at osteopathy, under the cloak of Christian Science. As a monument of prejudice and ignorance, it will not be paralleled with any measure that will be introduced at the present session. The learned doctors who drafted the bill, assume that Christian Science, a religious fad, and Osteopathy, a profound science, are one and the same thing, when every intelligent person who has given the matter the slightest investigation, knows that they are no more alike than the ability of the skillful surgeon, and the patent medicine vender on the street.

The bill provides that all practitioners, of whatever name and nature, shall apply to them for license, before being permitted to practice in the state. In other words, it asks protection from Osteopathic competition.

So far as the medical examination is concerned, there is not an accredited osteopath in Wisconsin who would not pass a more creditable examination than the average physician, out side of materia medica, which they neither study nor practice. They possess a thorough knowledge of the human body and the relation of its functions. They diagnose disease with the same scientific skill, possessed by the best physicians in the land.

They do not use massage, hypnotism, faith cure, Christian Science divine healing or anything else but the simple science of osteopathy.

They spend more money and time in securing knowledge than the average physician, and are as well equipped professionally.

There are thousands of intelligent people in the state who have confidence in the science, because they have tested it.

The medical fraternity of Wisconsin is a limited class, as compared to the mass of the population. Like all other professions or callings, the members of this fraternity are not in business for their health, neither are they philanthropists.

Their opposition to Osteopathy is actuated by self-interest and prejudice. Public sentiment is not in sympathy with this class of motives, and an intelligent legislature will not be influenced by them.

The Osteopaths are entitled to the recognition they seek and the state at large is entitled to the benefits of a science that will bear the closest investigation.

The growing commercial power of the United States cannot be better illustrated than by a perusal of Thomas Jefferson's letters in 1801, to the French government, and a comparison with the utterances of Sen. Lodge in 1901, on American shipping.

It may be a bad plan to give the vote to ignorant negroes and poor whites in Cuba, but which will influence them more—our example, or our precept?

The sugar planters of Hawaii want labor badly and are offering inducements to the negro to immigrate. The practice of importing labor under contract and under supervision is a bad one.

Workmen's Sanitary Homes.

The city with its marshy surroundings and its liability to overflows, is regarded as unhealthy at best. The evil is aggravated by the use by the poor of rooms beneath the overflow line.

A CLIMAX.

Being a Whole Modern Novel Compressed into a Small Space.

"Hortense," he began in a vibrating voice as he clutched a chair to support himself, "you must have known that I loved you?"
"Yes; I knew it," she carelessly replied.
"Loved you with a love as broad and deep as the mighty ocean, such a love as only one man in a million loves."

"Yes; I saw that something ailed you."

"And you have encouraged that love?"

"Very likely."

"And you have permitted me to hope that some day I might call you mine?"

"I think I have."

"And yet at 3 o'clock this afternoon the report comes to me that you are going to marry a duke and give me the shake. Hortense, brand that report as a lie."

"I couldn't."

"Then it is true, and you are false to me!"

"Yes, but don't holler so loud, or you'll wake up the cat."

"I'll holler no more. Girl, do you see this point? Swear to marry me and me alone, or I'll plunge it into this loyal breast of mine."

"I wouldn't. It will hurt."

"Will you swear?"

"I don't feel like it."

"Then farewell! I stab myself thus and thus and thus!"

For a brief moment the eyes of the false, fair girl rested upon the palpitating corpse at her feet. Then with steady hand she gave the bell rope two jerks, and as a servant appeared she calmly said:

"Jane, bring a broom and dustpan and clean up this mess. I'll have the next one die out on the sidewalk."

"You bet I do," was the hearty reply. "Thirty years ago I was in Buffalo and dead broke, and a man lent me 50 cents. The other day I went back there to pay it, and 35 different men claimed to be the right one and run the interest on the loan up to $3.50!"

BRUNSON IS FOUND NEAR FOOTVILLE

WALKED ALL NIGHT TRYING TO FIND HIS WAY HOME.

Was Seen on the Road by Several Persons, and Articles Belonging to Him Were Picked Up—He Was Somewhat Exhausted, But Suffered No Serious Injury.

Harry P. Brunson, for a number of years official stenographer of the municipal court, while laboring under an attack of mental derangement wandered away and spent the night in walking about the country, trying to find his home. He was located about eleven o'clock today at a farmer's house two miles north of Footville. His father left at once and brought him to the city.

Mr. Brunson was stricken last summer with locomotor ataxia, and has been in feeble health since that time. His brain seemed to be affected and of late he was worse than usual.

He left his father's house on South Main street yesterday evening about five o'clock, and started for his home, 51 Yuba street, in the second ward, but evidently lost his way and wandered off into the country.

His father supposed he had reached his home all right and thought nothing more of it until he received a telephone message from his son's wife asking him if Harry was at his house.

A search was immediately instituted for the missing man and soon the sheriff and under-sheriff, together with the police and numerous friends were out searching for him.

The first report of the missing man that the officers received was that he had ridden north in a bob sled with one of the Campion boys. After going nearly to the four corners this side of the Spaulding farm, he found out that he was going away from home and got out of the sled. Mr. Campion wanted him to go on home with him and get some supper and he would bring him back home. Brunson would not go with him and started back toward town.

Fred Decker saw him about seven o'clock as he came down the avenue drawing a sled behind him, with a music rack under his arm. He came right on down town and was seen by George Palmer, Ernest Clemons and others. Collin Samuels saw him going across the bridge about seven o'clock and said that he fell on the side walk in front of the Golden Eagle clothing store and was unable to rise for some time. Samuels walked as far as the Y. M. C. A. building with him and spoke to him several times but received no answer to his question.

Brunson continued on up Milwaukee street and out Pleasant street toward Footville. John L. Fisher was coming into town from his home about 8 o'clock and met him going toward Footville about two and a half miles from town. He was drawing the sled after him and seemed to be taking his time. Mr. Fisher thought nothing of his being there at that time of night.

This morning as Mr. Fisher was coming to town he found the music rack and a kid mitten in the road about a half mile this side of where he met Brunson the night before. He brought them to the city with him and when he learned about Brunson immediately informed the officers and he was finally located near Footville.

Brunson was found this morning at 10:30 o'clock by Frank Wells of Footville and brought to this city. Brunson was about two and a half miles west of Footville and was walking along the road. He still had the little sled and was pretty well tired out.

From the time that he left his father's to the time that he was found was about sixteen hours and he had not stopped walking during that time. When he arrived at his home Dr. Buckmaster was called to examine him and found that he had sustained no injury from his long tramp. He was somewhat exhausted, the fingers of the left hand were slightly frost bitten as were his ears and the outside toes of his feet, otherwise he was in pretty fair shape.

He arrived at Center this morning about eight o'clock and was at Footville about ten. No attention was paid to him at first, but when the telephone message was received Mr. Wells started out looking for him and soon found him.

To Take Note of Lincoln Day.

Rev. W. A. Hall of Court street M. E. church, is planning to make observance of Lincoln day by a special service on Sunday, Feb. 10. Lincoln, the friend of the colored man and the poor white, is the point on which emphasis will be laid. It is among these two classes that the Methodist church in the south is doing its strongest work, and it is therefore most appropriate that Mr. Hall should take note of the anniversary.

If the oracle were of any account it would be advisable to invest in more winter clothing, for the ground bog had many hours today when his shadow was plainly visible; but as it was proved fallacious in sixteen times out of seventeen, everyone is urged to pursue the same old gait, serene in the consciousness that sometime we will have spring.

The rummage sale, so successfully conducted last week by the Congregational church, will be conducted this week by the Baptist church. Without further notice will all friends please interest themselves and bring to the store articles for which they have no use and we will pass them on to those more needy and to whom they may be a source of comfort and pleasure. Ladies will be in attendance Monday to receive goods and take names and addresses where they are to be called for.

Arthur Petit Placed on Trial with

W. S. Pember, a Prosperous Farmer.

Supt. Kenyon this morning placed the child Arthur Petit in the hands of W. S. Pember of Johnstown Center, who will take him on trial with the ultimate intention of adopting him if he bears out his external promise.

This is a good plan for both, if it can be carried out as is most probable. Mr. Pember is a member of a well-known county family and commands universal respect and confidence.

HAVE BEEN WEDDED SIXTY-THREE YEARS

Yesterday Was the Marriage Anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Abram Phelps.

Yesterday marked the sixty-third wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Abram Phelps, who reside at 155 Pleasant street, and notice of the fact was taken by a number of their friends in an informal way by calling and wishing them continued health and happiness.

Mr. Phelps is eighty-nine years and his wife is eighty-four. They joined hands at Raisinville, Mich., in 1838. In 1865 they came to Rock county and sixteen years ago moved to this city where they have lived continuously since that time.

Mr. Phelps came from Massachusetts and is a descendant of sturdy English stock, his ancestors belonging in Berkshire county. The wife's lineage entitles her to membership with the Colonial Dames and the Daughters of the Revolution.

CROWDED CONDITION AT THE POOR FARM

The $4,000 Appropriation to Be Used To Build Hospital and Insane Asylum.

W. J. McIntyre, one of the trustees of the county insane asylum, was in The Gazette office today and gave some particulars concerning the accommodations at the poor farm.

The present building was constructed with the idea of providing for fifty indigent persons. Last winter there were sixty inmates, and this year the number is sixty-two, which naturally means that the institution is suffering from a congestion of business.

At the late session of the county board an appropriation of $4,000 was voted to build a hospital in connection with the poor house and insane asylum. This building is to be about thirty feet square and two stories high. Work on the building will probably commence early this coming spring as the institution is badly in need of same.

PIONEER SETTLERS' HISTORIC SOCIETY

A few members of the Janesville Early Settlers Historical society met in the municipal court yesterday afternoon in response to a call issued by Judge J. W. Sale. The officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: President, A. A. Jackson; vice president, O. F. Nowlan, secretary, F. L. Clemmons; treasurer, S. B. Smith. A. A. Jackson spoke to the members present in regard to the future of the society and the best means to keep it alive. He stated that there were several historical societies in the city and thought it would be a good plan to join hands with them in the work.

Hamilton Richardson spoke concerning the early history of the county, and suggested that in order to get the facts of the early happenings in the county it would be well to get men in each section of the county to compile the facts as to his immediate neighborhood.

J. L. Bear thought that a better attendance could be secured if the annual meeting was held in the summer.

A. A. Jackson was in favor of holding the meeting some time in March with no banquet and thought that Ex-Gov. Hoard or L. B. Caswell, both old pioneers of Rock county could be secured for a talk. The matter was left with the executive committee to decide.

The committees of the society will be named by President Jackson later. The standing committees are on membership, entertainment, necrology, finance, county history and local history.

STATEMENT FROM MARZLUFF & CO.

A great many people in the city are of the opinion that F. M. Marzluff & Co. are not in earnest in their statement about moving to Milwaukee and are simply trying to get a bonus out of the city to keep their plant here. For the benefit of all Mr. Marzluff has asked us to publish the following statement.

"Editor of the Gazette: Will you kindly state for F. M. Marzluff & Co. that they are not seeking or would not under any consideration accept anything in the way of a gift or consideration from the people of Janesville. They simply ask that some one erect for them a first-class fire-proof building with ample floor room and conveniences that go to make up a first-class plant. They do not ask this for nothing, but are willing to pay a rental on the plant that will pay interest on the investment. They think that Janesville ought to be able to compete with Milwaukee in the way of furnishing a building. They are anxious to negotiate with anyone that will put up such a building as an investment."

THE SEWING ROOM.

With Conveniences For an Agitating Season in the Household Calendar.

The soul stirring season of "Spring sewing" when forebanded and thrifty women often inaugurate in February or concurrently with the comparative leisure of lent is near enough in the household perspective to give tangible interest to the following sensible suggestions from The Household: With a large family a sewing room is almost a necessity. At least there should be some place where cutting, fitting and making can go on undisturbed. The dining room is frequently taken for this purpose if there is no regular sewing room, because of the large table, but there is always more or less untidiness where there is sewing, and this is not desirable during mealtime; therefore it entails much work in "picking up" three times a day.

The sewing room need not be a large one. A hall bedroom that is not needed as a sleeping apartment will be all right for the purpose. It should be uncarpeted, so that it may be easily kept clean.

Do not put any draperies at the window, for you will need all the light you can get for sewing. A shade is necessary to protect from the glare of the sun if on the south side of the house.

If there is a closet in the room, it will be found of great convenience in storing away patterns, dress materials, etc. If there is no closet, have a set of shelves built along one side of the room; also hooks for hanging clothes and finished work. Keep one of the shelves for fashion books and paper patterns. Here may also be kept buttons, hooks and eyes, sewing cotton, spool silk, whalebones, etc.

Make a case for hanging on the door of the sewing room or on the closet door. This case should be of ticking, denim or other strong material. Make the case two yards long and one yard wide. Divide the case into eight pockets and mark each one with the name of whatever belongs in it. Cotton dress material, woolen dress material, pieces of woolen for mending, new cotton cloth, old cotton cloth, linings and cambric, canvas and crinoline—whatever will come in use for family mending or sewing. A form upon which to hang and drape skirts will be found a great convenience in the sewing room. These forms are made of wire, also of rattan. They can be kept in the corner or in a closet when not in use.

Another article which is a necessity in a sewing room is a large scrapbasket for catching the scraps and cuttings in sewing. This should stand beside the sewing chair and will save much picking up afterward. The other furnishings of a sewing room should be the necessities only—a large table for cutting out the work, a folding table, lap board, sewing chairs, sewing machine and a chest of drawers or set of shelves.

There should be a large sheet always at hand for spreading on the floor, either to catch the cuttings or protect the bottom of a light colored skirt when trying on. There should also be a long mirror, tipped a little to show the entire figure if not long enough to reflect it when hung flat against the wall.

Dainty Bouillon Cups.

CURRENT HISTORY CLUB HELD SESSION

An Interesting and Well Attended Meeting Held—A Good Program Rendered.

The Current History Club met last evening with a good attendance considering the late date of the announcement. Although several scheduled to appear were absent the program as rendered sufficed to fill out the whole evening.

Miss Maud Young sang two solos accompanied by Mrs. L. B. Stevens on the piano. The sentiment and melody of both were agreeable. The first was a prophecy of spring and the second a love song with the scene laid in June. Both touched a responsive chord for by February all well regulated minds long for a change of season. Miss Young has a good voice with an unusual range.

Miss Myrtle Dewey's paper on the Centennial of the nation's capital was descriptive of that observation on Dec. 12. It was probably one of the most brilliant spectacular pageants ever seen in the city of Washington.

Mrs. J. Fletcher's article on current history covered the Boer war, the troubles in China, the uprising of the Snake Indians and the threatened complication with Venezuela. The paper was prepared for a meeting to be held a month ago, but as all the events referred to are still issues it was quite as timely for last night as for an earlier date.

In the absence of Lilwellyn Spencer his paper on the inventions of the 19th century was read by Miss Mildred Hatfield.

The session closed with the reading of an article by Rev. W. A. Hall on the relation of the constitution to the state, a brief chapter from McKenna's work on the state and the individual.

The next attraction on the People's Lecture Course comes next Tuesday, when Miss Ida Benfey will dramatize George Elliott's "Mill on the Floss." Miss Benfey has appeared on the Minneapolis course for three consecutive years.

LATE TELEGRAPHIC NEWS.

WAS A MAJESTIC DISPLAY.

Great Naval Funeral Procession Moves.

MANY SHIPS OF WAR IN LINE.

The German Naval Attendance Not So Great as Had Been Expected—Austrian Reichsrath Offers Insult to the Memory of British's Dead Queen.

Cowes, Isle of Wight, Feb. 2.—The funeral started from Osborne at 1:40 p. m. The Alberta, with the late queen's body on board, started from Cowes at 2:55 p. m., with the great naval funeral following.

The fleet to pay the last honors to Queen Victoria included the German squadron, which was weaker than first anticipated, including only the Baden, Victoria, Louise Judd, Hagen and Nymphen; the Portuguese Don Carlos and the curious looking, ugly French armored cruiser Dupuy de Lome. The spectacle was impressive. Looking from the southern pier, two lines of warships could be seen stretched away into the remote haze. The day was sullen. Snow fell fitfully and the colors of the British ships took on a funeral hue. Great crowds of spectators, subdued in their demeanor, swept the Spithead anchorage with their glasses or made a tour of the fleet in the small steamers which plied to and fro.

In the indistinct light the great line of British battleships looked most imposing, but as a display of strength the British fleet collected could not, of course, compare with that which assembled on the joyful occasion of the diamond jubilee. Several ships of the channel squadron were absent, being detained by repairs, which will not permit them to leave their base ports. The immense Powerful and Terrible, which attracted so much attention in 1897, were not here. Nor were the foreign ships quite so interesting a lot. The Japanese battleship Hatsuzuki is a decided advance upon the Fuji, which represented the land of the rising sun in 1897.

The Germans dressed their ships in gray, which melts wonderfully into the haze when the weather is not clear. Yesterday afternoon, for instance, it was difficult to see their vessels from land. Had it not been for the thick, black smoke which poured from their funnels their presence might have been overlooked. The French Dupuy de Lome was just as skillfully disguised. Being black throughout, she is a somber, but most business-like looking craft. At a distance she seems tiny compared with our battleships and huge cruisers, of which the four-funneled Niobe is the finest representative, but closer at hand she is seen to be a mass of small turrets, each with its long, wicked looking gun. Moreover, she is so well protected by armor she could probably give even the Niobe a particularly bad time.

It is strange that, though the French ship is ten years old, she is admittedly one of the finest types of cruisers. We have nothing in our fleet to equal her.

The torpedo-boat destroyers which escorted the queen's body had a most difficult task. The speed ordered was six knots, and at this pace these small craft were almost unmanageable and the current is the source of the greatest embarrassment under such circumstances.

Prince Henry of Prussia flew his flag on board the Baden. The German "Pain in the head and back" is a form of suffering with which so many women are familiar. Often this pain is associated with nervousness, sleeplessness and loss of appetite. The cause of such suffering is generally to be traced to derangement of the womanly function, or a diseased condition of the delicate womanly organs.

In such cases the action of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is marvelous in the prompt relief of pain and permanent cure of disease. It regulates the periodic function, dries disagreeable drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. It cures when all other means have been tried in vain. Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence is held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

In a little over thirty years Dr. Pierce, assisted by his staff of nearly a score of physicians, has cured more than half a million women.

"I was a great sufferer for six years and doctored all the time with a number of different physicians, but did not receive any benefit," writes Mrs. George Sogden, of 641 Bond Street, Saginaw (South), Mich. "One day as I was reading a paper I saw your advertisement, and although I had given up all hope of ever getting better, thought I would write to you. When I received your letter, telling me what to do, I commenced to take your Favorite Prescription, and follow your advice. I have taken ten bottles in all, also five vials of the Pleasant Pellets. Am now regular after having missed two years and suffered with pain in the head and back. Now I thank you for my recovery."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure biliousness.

torpedo boats 93 and 96 were with the fine squadron under his command. They have created a favorable impression by the smartness of their evolutions.

The spectacle as the naval cortege moved was majestic in the extreme. The very weather seemed to sympathize with the occasion.

INSULT TO QUEEN'S MEMORY.

Cheers for the Queen Given in Austria.

Vienna, Feb. 2.—At the first sitting of the Reichsrath yesterday the president commenced a speech on Queen Victoria, in which he paid tributes to her memory. He was at once interrupted by shouts from the Radicals of "Long live the Boers!" and "Hurrah for the Boers!" Herr Wolf, the notorious obstructionist, shouted "Down with the miserable Dutch robbers!" There were counter shouts of "Shame!" and a great tumult ensued. All the sober organs of the press indignantly protest against the gross violation of every standard of propriety by the Reichsrath. It was not only that a distressing occasion was chosen to manifest sympathy for the Boers, but some of the demonstrators interjected insulting remarks concerning Queen Victoria.

The demonstration, however, is well understood to have been part of the campaign of obstruction, which the anti-government parties are determined to renew. The Czech Nationalists, Socialists and Pan-Germans all shared in the demonstration, but they did not confine their uncouth behavior to expressions against Great Britain.

The Czechs opened the ball by insulting shouts, daring the government to utter a word against the Czechs in the speech from the throne, which will be delivered on Feb. 4.

When the president began his address the Czechs called him an ass and other names. This preceded the Anglophobe outbreak. Subsequently the Pan-Germans ostentatiously left the chamber when the president called for the customary cheers for the emperor.

The Moderates and educated members of the house, many of whom sympathize with the Boers, rose from their seats as a mark of respect to Queen Victoria upon the conclusion of the president's address.

DELAY THE SUBSIDY BILL.

Alleged Filibustering Begun in the Senate.

FOR NEW PUBLIC BUILDINGS.

Favorable Report from Committee, Gives News of Interest to Towns in Iowa, Illinois and Wisconsin—Bids for the Protected Cruisers.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 2.—The first evidence of an old-fashioned filibuster against the subsidy bill appeared in the frequent demands in the senate for the presence of a quorum. When Senator Allen of Nebraska made his record long-distance speech he was materially assisted by these demands, which require a roll call of the senate to develop the presence of a quorum, the speaker during the proceedings being given an opportunity to recuperate and rest. Senator Rawlins experienced considerable trouble in arranging his references during his speech, and produced long intervals of silence, which caused the friends of the bill to claim that he was deliberately filibustering. "There were minutes without words during his speech," one of them stated in criticizing the delay.

For Public Buildings.

The house committee on public buildings and grounds ordered a favorable report on the omnibus bill introduced by Chairman Mercer of that committee increasing the limit of cost of certain public buildings. Certain amendments were adopted by the committee, so that the bill as it will come before the house will contain the following items of interest to the west and northwest: Creston (Iowa) postoffice, increase from $50,000 to $100,000; Eau Claire (Wis.) postoffice, increase from $50,000 to $115,000, limiting cost of site to $10,000; Freeport (Ill.) postoffice, increase from $75,000 to $85,000; Joliet (Ill.) postoffice, increase from $100,000 to $130,000.

Southerners to Get $344,480.

The house passed an omnibus bill carrying 191 claims for stores and supplies taken by the Union army during the rebellion. The claims were passed on by the Court of Claims and aggregated $344,480. Practically all the beneficiaries reside in the south.

Bids for Protected Cruisers.

Bids for the construction of three protected cruisers have just been opened at the navy department. Neafie Levy of Philadelphia, at $2,740,000; the Newport News Shipbuilding company, at $2,741,000, and the Bath Shipbuilding company at $2,750,000, appear to be the successful bidders for the three cruisers. Reservations made in each bid, however, prevent a positive statement.

Reduction of Debt $4,593,432.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 2.—The monthly statement of the public debt shows that at the close of business Jan. 31, 1901, the debt, less cash in the treasury, amounted to $1,094,595,878, a decrease for the month of $4,593,432.

EASILY DECIDED.

This Question Should be Answered Easily by Janesville People.

Which is wiser—to have confidence in the opinions of your fellow citizens or depend on statements made by utter strangers? Read this:

Mrs. N. J. Casey, of 101 Prairie Ave., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills proved better than any other medicine I took for my kidney troubles. These organs troubled me off and on for some years. Backache was the chief symptom and often caused me to suffer severely. I tried a number of remedies but continued to grow worse instead of better. I was finally persuaded to try Doan's Kidney Pills and procured a box at the Peoples' Drug Co's. store. I only took them a few days when I felt better. Should there be any recurrence of my trouble I now know what to use."

New England Women

Have an Abiding Faith in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

After years of struggle to attain and merit public confidence, with a firm and steadfast belief that some day others would recognize in us the truth, good faith, and honesty of purpose which we know we possess, what a genuine satisfaction it is to succeed, and to realize the uplifting influence of the merited confidence of a vast army of our fellow beings.

Thus stands the Pinkham name in New England, and all over America, and nowhere is the faith in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound greater than in New England, its home. Merit, and merit alone, can gain this.

ORGANIC INFLAMMATION.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I was troubled very badly with inflammation of the bladder, was sick in bed with it. I had two doctors, but they did me no good. A friend gave me Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it helped me. I have now taken three bottles of it, and I am entirely cured. It is a God-send to any woman, and I would recommend it to any one suffering as I was. I think, if most of the women would take more of your medicine instead of going to the doctors, they would be better off. The Compound has also cured my husband of kidney trouble."

Mrs. MABEL GOOKIN, Mechanic Falls, Maine.

NERVOUS PROSTRATION.

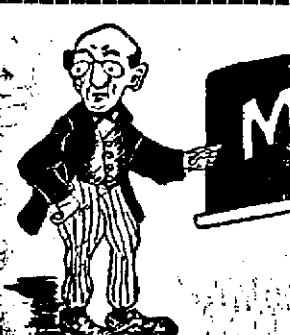

"For two years I suffered from nervous prostration, the result of female weakness. I had leucorrhoea very badly, and at time of menstruation would be obliged to go to bed. Also suffered with headaches, pain across back, and in lower part of abdomen. I was so discouraged. I had read of Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound, and concluded to give it a trial. I wrote to Mrs. Pinkham, and received a very nice letter in return. I began at once the use of her Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier, and am now feeling splendid. I have no more pain at monthly periods, can do my own work, and have gained ten pounds. I would not be without your Vegetable Compound. It is a splendid medicine. I am very thankful for what it has done for me."—Mrs. J. W. J., 76 Carolina Ave., Jamaica Plain, Mass.

If Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will cure these women—why not you—you cannot tell until you try it. If you are ill, and really want to get well, commence its use at once, and do not let any drug clerk persuade you that he has something of his own which is better, for that is absurd. Ask him to produce the evidence we do.

REPORT BAD WRECK ON THE "SOO" LINE

Atlantic Limited Was Derailed Near Brantford This Morning—Six Passengers Injured.

seesehthharaodilehtraodliunestharodil
Rhinelander, Feb. 2.—It is reported here that the Atlantic Limited train on the Soo Line was wrecked near Brantwood this morning. Six passengers were injured. Doctors were summoned from here and several medical men hurried to the scene of the accident on a special train. The wrecking train from Gladstone passed through this city this morning on its way to clear the wreckage from the track. The wreck occurred at ten o'clock this morning. Seven coaches left the rails and rolled over on their sides, the baggage and express car and engine not leaving the track.
The cause of the accident was a broken rail. The train carried a small number of passengers.

RUD A NEBRASKA SALOON.

South Sioux City Women Imitate Mrs.
Nation.

Sioux City, Iowa, Feb. 2.—Twenty imitators of Mrs. Nation destroyed a saloon at South Sioux City, Neb., a suburb of Sioux City, just across the Missouri river. The women met at the home of Mrs. William Luther, and, accompanied by Captain William Luther, marshal of the town, and Steve Gasper, a member of the city council, they marched double file down the street to John Peyson's saloon. The place was locked, and Captain Luther kicked in the front door. Mrs. C. P. Dow sailed after a slot machine, and then all the women set about carrying out the furniture and everything they could lay hands on, depositing it in the street. No whisky was found. Mrs.
John A. Davis climbed up a ladder and knocked a sign off the building. She also painted the word "Saloon" over with white paint. The crowd then moved toward John Blenkiron's building, in which George Ammerman is said to keep a gambling joint. Blenkiron announced that if any one went into his building it would be over his dead body. The women decided not to try.

offering to divulge for $7,000 the names of the Eddie Cudahy kidnapers. She family to fear kidnaping. Young Hillsdale, Mich., took his baggage to a fashionable boarding house and disappeared.

Titus Law Knocked Out.

Des Moines, Feb. 2.—The supreme court this morning announced that the decision of the lower court in the Titus biennial election amendment was affirmed. This knocks out the amendment to the constitution and results in a state election being held next fall.

Speeding on the Ice.

The lovers of fast horses have changed their place for speeding their horses from South Main street to the ice on the river above Monterey. The car track on South Main street made it exceedingly dangerous for any one driving fast to turn out while passing anyone.
The sleigh runner would catch on the hinge of the rail and a tipover was the usual result. The ice has been cleared of the snow and a first class track mapped out where the owners of fast stoppers can have everything their own way and not interfere with the ordinary pleasure seeker.
